

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"The Bible"

By R. J. B. Stubbins, Pastor First Presbyterian Church

"In the beginning was the word"

John 1:1.
Sunday, December 6th, will be observed in thousands of churches in this land as Bible Day. The purpose is to create a broader and deeper interest in the study of the Bible. This is a very opportune time for putting forth such an effort. Many people who a few short months ago took no interest in the Bible, are today anxiously searching the pages of God's word. They want to know if prophecy will throw any light upon our awful war. The war has made some of our most spiritual men feel very keenly the need of more knowledge concerning God's dealings with his people and they have very properly gone to a deeper study of his "word".

Most books are like men. They are born; they grow old and die. The book, which is most popular today will be all but forgotten tomorrow.

It is read and discussed for a season, and laid on the shelf and soon covered with dust. Many of our large libraries have become little more than grave yards for dead books. Very few books that were written a century ago are read now. Most of them have been dead and buried these many years.

The Bible is different from other books. It lives on century after century. More people are pondering its pages today, than ever before in the history of man. It started in the world's infancy. It grew under theocracy and monarchy, and it has blossomed most beautifully in the land of the free, where the government is of the people, by the people and for the people. Indeed our republican form of Government grew out of truths found in this holy book.

The Bible has withstood storms of fire. It has found shelter under the prophet's mantle, the fisherman's coat, and the monk's cowl. The Bible is a book for all ages and for all classes of people. It did not grow in a day, neither can it perish in a night. Its growth was slow covering many centuries of time. When Moses came to the end of his life and handed the Bible over to Joshua for the souls of the Hebrew people to feed upon it was a little book. It told the story of the creation of the world and of how God made man in his own image and of man's sin against his Creator. It also told of God's dealings with his children in the early dawn of time. This book grew under Joshua, David, Jeremiah and other men who were moved by the spirit of God. Then after centuries passed by, the book again grew larger in the hands of the Apostles, giving the world a clean and fuller conception of God. Giving us a broader conception of our duty to both God and man.

Cottonseed Oil Is Used for Olive Oil

The European war, according to specialists in the Department of Agriculture affords the American housewife an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with a very useful native product, which has suffered much from a popular prejudice. By using cottonseed instead of olive oil, Americans cannot only save themselves money, but can benefit the southern cotton growers who have suffered from the war.

In the year ending, June 30, 1913, nearly 140,000,000 worth of cotton seed products were shipped to Europe. The Department repudiates the popular belief that cottonseed oil is used chiefly to imitate or counterfeit oil.

"As a matter of fact," says the Department, "it is fully as nutritive as olive oil, and on account of its bland flavor, is actually preferred by many. It lacks of course, the distinctive olive flavor, which many persons, especially the Italians, find desirable. Those who prefer their food less highly seasoned will find cottonseed oil pleasant in French dressing or salads. In mayonnaise dressing, where mustard or other condiments are used, the cottonseed oil gives the dressing a rich, creamy taste. The great advantage with cottonseed oil, however, is of course, its cheapness."

SOME MINOR WAR NEWS FROM EUROPE

LITTLE STORIES FROM THE FRONT THAT ARE COMING IN THROUGH THE CAPITALS OF THE NATIONS NOW FIGHTING EACH OTHER—SOME ARE TRIVIAL, BUT ALL ARE INTERESTING AT THIS TIME.

By WILLIAM C. SHEPHERD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

VINENNA, Oct. 16 (by mail to New York).—Roman Catholic circles here have been agitated ever since the fall of Lemberg concerning the fate hanging over the head of the old bishop of Lemberg. The earliest rumors to reach the Catholic diplomatic circles here were that the bishop of Lemberg had been imprisoned by the Russians. These rumors were vague and could not be confirmed. But within the past few days an Austrian business man from Lemberg has succeeded in reaching Vienna with the positive information that the aged Roman Catholic bishop of Lemberg is to be executed by the Russians.

I happened to be at the American embassy here when two black-robed priests, from the Catholic diplomatic circles here, were received, their faces stamped with worry and distress. They asked Frederick Penfield, the American ambassador, who, through the tangle of war represents the Russian government in Austria-Hungary, to save the life of the Lemberg churchmen.

Whether Mr. Penfield will succeed in his efforts is a question. I wanted to know why the Russians wanted to kill a Roman Catholic bishop and investigation in Vienna disclosed the fact that the war between Russia and Austria-Hungary is in certain sections a holy war. It is the Greek against the Roman church. I cannot find that the statesmen of either country divide their issues on this line, but the Russian soldier in the field fights for his true cross, the cross of the Greek Catholic church and the Austrian soldier fights back for the cross of Rome.

It is only on the border of the two countries that severe fighting has taken place and it is among the border peoples of both countries that the religious feeling is paramount to patriotic sentiments. If the Russians penetrate farther into Austria-Hungary the chances are that the religious aspect of the present conflict will disappear. The Russian charge against the priests in each town they have taken is that they are acting as spies. The border towns in Austria-Hungary contain many Slavic inhabitants who always wildly welcome the coming of Russian soldiers and it is these Slav town folks who are Greek Catholics and who usually accuse the Roman Catholic priests in their town of acting as spies. The Russian soldiers and officers hear these charges eagerly, and, though definite information is lacking, I am told that no less than fifty Romish priests have been executed as the Russians advance into Austria-Hungary.

German tales of Russian inefficiency bolster up the faith of the Kaiser's people. Here is one that was widely circulated in German military circles:

After the battle of Tannenberg the Germans over an open country were suddenly astonished to see an entire Russian brigade turn and rush toward them. They cut down the Russians with machine guns and bayonets, but after the battle, not a sign of a Russian soldier could be found. Three hours later in a town farther on all the officers in this Russian brigade were found drinking in a cafe where they had spent the entire day. They had "wound up" their brigade, much as a child winds up a toy wagon, started it off toward the German lines without a single officer in charge of it and they began a day of drinking in the village tavern. Their luggage included many laciest of lingerie, silk stockings and trunks, which were filled with the other delicate articles of feminine wear.

"Why do they carry these?" asked an Austrian officer of his prisoners. "Oh! we wouldn't let our women come into the danger zone," answered a Russian.

Ohio May Own the W. & L. E. Railroad

United Press Service

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 5.—In accordance with a suggestion by the city council of Cleveland, the state of Ohio may possibly purchase and operate the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad, according to advices from state officials to city officials here today.

"I think it is a good plan, and I have ordered the state utilities commission to investigate the financial securities of the road and fix the physical valuation of the system," wrote Governor Cox. "Attorney General Hogan will at once set to work to determine the state's right to make such purchase."

A recent effort to sell the road at auction failed. W. L. Day, Federal judge, set $20,000,000 as the minimum purchase price.

To guard against tree repair fakers or quack tree surgeons, the Massachusetts forestry association will inspect the shade trees belonging to its members, free of charge.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTER TO HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea recipe are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin, have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight, and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days. (Advertisement)
